

America Can't Buy Its Way Out of a Population Crisis!

The new thinking in Washington these days is that more money can solve our nation's most serious problems.

Unfortunately, that thinking doesn't work when it comes to population growth.

Money isn't the answer.

We need an all-encompassing national debate on our fundamental population and immigration policies and we need it now! Without finding responsible solutions that will halt and reverse our current rate of growth, America's population will reach a projected 438 million people by 2050. Today's economic, health, energy, environmental and educational crises pale in comparison to what we will experience in the future.

There is an answer. Congress must create a U.S. Commission on Population Growth that will recommend population and immigration policies for the 21st Century.

Our elected leaders have already placed an enormous financial burden on our children and grandchildren with trillion dollar deficits as far as the eye can see. Let's not also saddle these future generations with TOO MANY PEOPLE.
