

CITIZENS' OPEN LETTER TO CONGRESS

Dear U.S. Senators and Congressmen:

As Congress debates immigration reform legislation, it is crucial that you do not create a bill that becomes a “population accelerator,” condemning America to a future of skyrocketing population levels and worsening social, economic, and environmental problems.

Right now, you are fashioning a major piece of legislation that will dictate our nation’s immigration policies for decades to come. You will do our citizens a great disservice if you attempt to serve too many special interests, creating a bill full of special exceptions, waivers, and loopholes. Those “loose ends” will only lead to more immigration problems.

We demand that – rather than writing one massive bill which increases current immigration levels and brings millions of additional people into our nation – Congress instead focus on realistic goals to solve this crisis: better securing our nation’s borders, stronger enforcement of existing immigration laws, and reducing our nation’s population size.

Please accept your responsibility to work in the best interests of future generations as you frame America’s immigration policies.

Sincerely,
Concerned Members of Negative Population Growth
